Important Publication Changes in 2016

New Titles

- Archives of American Art Journal (ISSN: 0003-9853; E-ISSN: 2327-0667) Recently re-launched to incorporate peer-reviewed articles, the Archives of American Art Journal covers the history of the visual arts in the United States from the eighteenth century to the recent past. The Journal seeks to enrich our understanding of art history and visual culture by publishing original research based in part on the vast holdings of the Archives of American Art. The journal was previously self-published by the Smithsonian Institution.
- History of Humanities (ISSN: 2379-3163; E-ISSN: 2379-3171) History of Humanities, along with the newly formed Society for the History of the Humanities, takes as its subject the history of a wide variety of disciplines including archaeology, art history, historiography, linguistics, literary studies, musicology, philology, and media studies, tracing these fields from their earliest developments, through their formalization into university disciplines, and to the modern day. By exploring the history of humanities across time and civilizations and along with their socio-political and epistemic implications, the journal takes a critical look at the concept of humanities itself. Volume 1 #1 begins Spring 2016.
- Journal of Anthropological Research (ISSN: 0091-7710; E-ISSN: 2153-3806) The Journal of Anthropological Research publishes diverse, high-quality, peer-reviewed articles on anthropological research of substance and broad significance, as well as about 100 timely book reviews annually. The journal reaches out to anthropologists of all specialties and theoretical perspectives both in the United States and around the world, with special emphasis given to the detailed presentation and rigorous analysis of field research. This title was previously self-published by the University of New Mexico.
- Journal of the Association for Consumer Research (ISSN: 2378-1815; E-ISSN: 2378-1823) The Journal of the Association for Consumer Research publishes quarterly thematic issues exploring unique topics in consumer behavior. Each issue has a well-defined theme, chosen from the broad substantive, managerial, and methodological topics relevant to understanding consumer behavior; and each issue is directed by a different team of editors who, with relevant experience and ability, are best poised to assemble outstanding articles around that theme. Volume 1 #1 begins January 2016.
- The Papers of the Bibliographical Society of America (ISSN:0006-128X; E-ISSN: 2377-6528) Published on behalf of the oldest scholarly society in North America dedicated to the study of books and manuscripts as physical objects, The Papers of the Bibliographical Society of America contains articles on book and manuscript production, publication, distribution, collecting, reading, and editorial and textual scholarship in all disciplines. The journal publishes original articles, book reviews, bibliographical notes and review essays. This title was self-published by the Bibliographical Society of America before joining the University of Chicago Press journals program with its March 2015, issue (Vol. 109, No. 1).

The journal is included in the Complete Chicago Package in both 2015 and 2016.

- Source: Notes in the History of Art (ISSN: 0737-4453; E-ISSN: TBD)
Source: Notes in the History of Art is a scholarly, peer-reviewed quarterly journal dedicated to publishing concise articles on art history. Typical single issues contain seven to nine 2,500 word articles with an average of three illustrations each. Occasionally double issues on special topics are also published. The philosophy of Source celebrates scholarly brevity. Subjects include all aspects of western and nonwestern art as well as archaeology. The journal was previously self-published by the Bard Graduate Center and the Ars Brevis Foundation.
- Speculum: A Journal of Medieval Studies (ISSN: 0038-7134; E-ISSN: 2040-8072)
Speculum, published quarterly since 1926, was the first scholarly journal in North America devoted exclusively to the Middle Ages. It is open to contributions in all fields studying the Middle Ages, a period ranging from approximately 500 to 1500. European, Arabic, Byzantine, Hebrew, and Slavic studies are included. To check the classification of an institutional subscriber, please contact subscriptions@press.uchicago.edu. Note that orders submitted at incorrect rates will be billed for the difference.

Renewal Notices

No renewal notices are sent to institutions that subscribe through agencies prior to receipt of agency orders. However, Complete Chicago Package customers are notified of content and pricing changes when such information becomes available. After agency orders are received in December, renewal notices for any institutions not included with the orders are sent to the institution, not the agency.

Cancellation and Format Adjustments

Individual subscription orders may be canceled and the unserved portion refunded to the subscriber. Institutional subscription orders are regarded as final and may not be canceled after the start of the subscription term. Partial refunds will not be given for format adjustments after the subscription has begun.

Perpetual Access

Postcancellation (perpetual) access applies only to born-digital content published during the subscription term. Issues published prior to the start of the subscription term, to which access is provided as a benefit of an active subscription, are not eligible for postcancellation access.

Archival issues digitized by JSTOR are hosted by the University of Chicago Press pursuant to an agreement between JSTOR and the University of Chicago Press. Access to these issues is provided only to institutional customers who hold an active full-run subscription. Postcancellation access does not apply to these issues.

If the Press no longer holds rights to a journal that would allow us to provide postcancellation access, provision of such access will transfer to the journal's owner or its agent, or to an appropriate third party provider.

A detailed postcancellation access policy is included in the Press's Terms and Conditions of Use, now available on our web site. To request postcancellation access, contact journalsupport@press.uchicago.edu.

Individual Subscriptions

Individual rates are applicable only when a subscription is for individual use and when delivery is made directly to the end user. The University of Chicago Press does not accept third-party orders at the individual rate for US customers. All agency orders for US customers must be placed at institutional rates. In cases where an individual residing outside the United States cannot make payment in US funds or via credit card, the Press will accept an agency order at the individual rate.

Single Copies/Back Issues

Additional copies of issues within the current volume are available upon request. Rates for single copies are included in the posted 2016 rates for each journal. Back issues are available at a discount for most journals. You can also contact customer service or visit www.journals.uchicago.edu for more information. All single-copy sales are final: no returns or refunds.

Claims for Missing Print Issues

Claims requests for replacement copies due to nonreceipt must arrive within three months of publication date or date of order (whichever is later) for US orders or within six months of publication date or date of order (whichever is later) for non-US orders. In all other cases, the single-copy price will be charged for replacing an issue. Claims requests on orders submitted via EDI must also be submitted via EDI.

We recognize that some agents cannot submit claims via EDI. In those cases, we will accept SINGLE one-off claims via email to agencyclaims@press.uchicago.edu. However claims for multiple missing issues must be submitted via spreadsheet.

Thank you for ordering from the University of Chicago Press.

Sincerely,

Rich Connelly
