Pricing and Formats

The University of Chicago Press offers institutional subscriptions in three formats: Electronic Only, Print + Electronic, and Print Only. Please refer to the 2013 rates for the available subscription options for each journal.

Institutional subscription rates are structured according to JSTOR's institutional classification system. To check the classification of an institutional subscriber, please contact fulfillment@ithaka.org. More information is available at the JSTOR Participation Pages, http://about.jstor.org/participate-jstor/libraries. Please note that JSTOR uses different methodologies to determine the classifications of libraries, depending on the library's community (higher education, public, secondary school, etc.) or geographical location. Only JSTOR can determine an institution’s classification. Agents should never try to guess an institution’s classification, but must always write to fulfillment@ithaka.org to obtain this information.

Full-run subscriptions for University of Chicago Press titles are offered through JSTOR. Full-run subscriptions include current issues in either E-only format or P+E format plus back issues in E-only format extending back to Volume 1, Issue 1. The price of a full-run subscription is the institutional subscription rate for the current issues, plus 70% of that rate for the archival issues (the backfile). Full-run subscriptions must be renewed each year in order to retain access to the backfile, and the backfile cannot be purchased separately from the current issues of the title.

Complete Chicago Package Information
The Complete Chicago Package (CCP) offers reduced pricing to institutions subscribing to our full collection of electronic journals. For 2013 the Complete Chicago Package will be available only in the Electronic Only format. The full-run subscription option is available for the Complete Chicago Package.

All orders for the Complete Chicago Package should be placed with JSTOR.

Subscribers to the CCP can purchase print copies at deeply discounted (DDP) rates. The DDP rate for a title is 75% off the Print Only rate (or Print + Electronic if no Print Only rate exists); postage and taxes apply. Orders for the deeply discounted print copies should be directed to the University of Chicago Press.
Please note that DDP rates are not available for Crime and Justice, Innovation Policy and the Economy, NBER International Seminar on Macroeconomics, NBER Macroeconomics Annual, Tax Policy and the Economy, and Supreme Court Economic Review. Order the print edition of these titles directly from the University of Chicago Press Distribution Center:

Current Scholarship Program (CSP) Information
JSTOR handles licensing for electronic access. Institutions that already have a license with JSTOR must sign a rider to their licenses covering titles participating in the Current Scholarship Program. Institutions that do not have signed site license agreements with JSTOR must sign both the license and the rider. Contact fulfillment@ithaka.org for more information.

Subscription agents are responsible for sending JSTOR the information needed to set up and maintain access for the institution’s users. This includes but may not be limited to IP addresses. Agents should send the Network Verification Form to new subscribers. This form is at www.jstor.org/action/showNetworkVerification. For assistance with access, contact support@jstor.org.

Orders Submitted at Incorrect Rates
Orders submitted to JSTOR (Electronic Only and Print + Electronic) or the University of Chicago Press (Print Only) at old or other rates will be billed for the additional amount due unless accompanied by a University of Chicago Press or JSTOR order form or promotion code offering a special rate. All rates are for one year unless otherwise specified. Rates are subject to change without notice. We strongly recommend that you confirm both delivery format and institutional classification before processing subscription renewals for 2013.

Its potential audiences include universities, public or private libraries, and corporations—literally any organization where words become messages shared with others. For a quick look at and product information about CMOS, go to http://www.chicagomanualofstyle.org/home.html.

The Chicago Manual of Style Online is available on a subscription basis. Subscription orders for the online edition are administered and managed at The University of Chicago Press. The same order guidelines for Print Only subscriptions of Journals titles apply to CMOS.

Order Submissions for Print Only Subscriptions
All Print Only orders, including subscriptions delivered to a consolidation center, must include a complete postal mailing address. Librarian contact information, including telephone number and email address, is required for order processing and the resolution of customer service claims. Order information should always include the full journal title and the requested start volume and issue number.
The University of Chicago Press encourages the submission of orders electronically via the ICEDIS format.

Payment for Print Only Subscriptions

All Print Only agency orders must be prepaid. Agency orders received without payment will be keyed “pro-forma” and an invoice for the amount due will be mailed. Upon receipt of full payment, the order will be activated. All other orders must be prepaid except those from universities, libraries, hospitals, and government institutions located in the United States that place orders that include a hard-copy purchase order. Orders from these institutions will be billed.

Payment must be in U.S. dollars. Checks and money orders should be made payable to The University of Chicago Press. Checks must be drawn on banks located in the United States. Orders may be charged to MasterCard, VISA, American Express, and Discover.

Please note that The University of Chicago Press cannot absorb fees charged by financial institutions for wire transfers. When submitting payment by wire, please be sure that your payment covers the cost of any bank fees. For domestic institutions, payment via Automatic Clearing House (ACH) should avoid transfer fees. Include copies of all relevant wire transfer information when you submit your order.

Agency Discount for Print Only Subscriptions

All agency orders for U.S. customers must be at institutional rates. A 5% commission will be allowed to agencies on the Print Only subscription orders for institutions submitted to the Journals Division.

To receive the discount on the Print Only orders, complete end-user information must accompany agency subscription orders. Submitting orders with complete end-user information speeds order entry and improves accuracy.

Tax

Except where noted, all Canadian orders are subject to the Goods and Services Tax (GST) or the Harmonized Sales Tax (HST). If your institution is exempt, please include details with your order to avoid unnecessary charges.
Except where noted, all orders shipped to addresses in the state of Indiana must now include 7% sales tax. 10.25% tax is charged on all single-copy sales within the state of Illinois. If your institution is exempt, please include details with your order to avoid unnecessary charges.

Please note that sales tax is charged for orders with ship-to addresses in California for all Hoover Press distributed titles. California sales tax is charged for all other titles except for subscriptions that include four or more issues in one twelve-month period. If you are exempt from California state sales tax, please supply the necessary information to avoid additional charges.

Please note that orders involving online content for institutions and individuals in the European Union may be subject to the VAT. Our VAT number is EU826008480.

Shipping
Except where noted, all print copies of our journals are shipped to subscribers outside the United States via Publications Air Service. Shipping within the U.S. is via the United States Postal Service.

Renewal Notices on Print Only Subscriptions
No renewal notices are sent to institutions subscribing through agencies prior to receipt of agency orders. After agency orders are received in December, renewal notices for institutions not included with the orders are sent to the institution, not the agency.

Cancellation and Format Adjustments on Print Only Subscriptions
Individual subscription orders may be canceled and the unserved portion refunded to the subscriber. Institutional subscription orders are regarded as final and may not be canceled after the start of the subscription term. Partial refunds will not be given for format adjustments after the subscription has begun.

Individual Subscriptions
Individual rates are applicable only when a subscription is for individual use and when delivery is made directly to the end user. The University of Chicago Press does not accept third-party orders at the individual rate for U.S. customers. All agency orders for U.S. customers must be placed at institutional rates. In cases where an individual residing outside the United States cannot make payment in U.S. funds or via credit card, the Press will accept an agency order at the individual rate. JSTOR does not accept any subscriptions at individual rates. All individual subscriptions must be placed with The University of Chicago Press fulfillment department.

Single Copies/Back Issues
Additional copies of issues within the current volume are available upon request. Rates for single copies are included in the posted 2013 rate list. Back issues are available at a discount for most journals. You can also contact customer service or visit www.journals.uchicago.edu for more information. All single-copy sales are final. No returns or refunds.

Claims requests for replacement copies due to nonreceipt must arrive within three months of publication date or date of order (whichever is later) for U.S. orders or within six months of publication date or date of order (whichever is later) for non-U.S. orders. In all other cases the single-copy price will be charged for replacing an issue. Claims requests should be sent to agencyclaims@press.uchicago.edu to assure timely processing.
